NCSL TASK FORCE ON ENERGY SUPPLY

MCCORMICK PLACE CONVENTION CENTER • CHICAGO, IL • AUGUST 5, 2012

AGENDA

The August 2012 meeting of the Task Force on Energy Supply presents a look at the role of new technologies in the nation's energy future and how states are shaping their energy plans to take new developments, as well as uncertainty, into account.

Sunday, 2012 – Room W195

8:30 a.m. –
9:00 a.m.

Continental Breakfast

9:00 a.m. –
9:15 a.m.

Welcome and Introductions

Representative Al Carlson, North Dakota
Representative Jeff Morris, Washington

9:15 a.m. –
10:15 a.m.

The Illinois Energy Plan

Illinois has taken advanced steps in creating an energy plan and developing legislation to support it. This session will discuss the plan, how it was developed, how it is being used to meet the state's energy needs and how it is acting as an economic engine for Illinois while addressing electricity costs and creating jobs.

Jonathan Feipel, Deputy Director of the Illinois Energy Office for the Illinois Department of Commerce and Economic Opportunity

10:15 a.m. –
11:15 a.m.

New Energy Technology Research

This session will discuss research on critical energy technologies that is being conducted at Argonne National Laboratory. The discussion will explore why new energy technology research is important to state policymakers, how they can use this research to their advantage and how new energy technology will affect the future electric grid.

Ed Daniels, Deputy Associate Laboratory Director, Energy Engineering and Systems Analysis, Argonne National Laboratory

11:15 a.m. –
12:15 a.m.

Cleaner Coal Technologies and the Future of Coal

Despite some challenges to coal-fired power due to regulations and natural gas prices, it will continue to play a large role in electric power production in the future. A new generation of coal technologies reduces air emissions and increases efficiency, which helps it compete with the cleaner sources that are preferred today. This session will discuss cleaner coal technologies, the future of coal and the important role these advancement will play in ensuring the U.S. has access to reliable and affordable electricity resources.

	Karen Obenshain, Director of Fuel, Technology and Commercial Policy, Edison Electric Institute Robert Hilton, Vice President, Power Technologies for Government Affairs, Alstom

1:15 p.m. – 2:45 p.m.	Energy Planning for Critical Infrastructure With a growing population and increasingly complex electricity grid, the ability for the electricity system to respond to challenges presented by natural disasters, extreme weather, and terrorism has become a critical factor in energy planning. This session will discuss how states and utilities are planning ahead to keep our increasing population powered in the face of these threats. The role state policy in protecting the electric infrastructure will also be discussed. Christina Cody, National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners
2:45 p.m. – 3:00 p.m.	Break
3:00 p.m. – 4:00 p.m.	Nuclear Energy Planning Nuclear power plants will continue to be a significant source of electricity in many areas of the U.S. since they are a clean and reliable source of base load power. This session will discuss how utilities work nuclear generation into their resource plans and how states are planning ahead for nuclear energy production. Exelon
4:00 p.m. – 4:20 p.m.	Mike Carr, Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary in the Office of Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy, Department of Energy

Subject: Opportunity to Interact with International Delegates at NCSL's Summit

Dear Legislators and Staff,

Thank you for indicating interest in the International Programs department of NCSL. As you know, our department will host a roundtable discussion session at NCSL's Legislative Summit on Sunday, August 5th with international delegates and we are looking for U.S. legislators and staffers to participate in these discussions. We are very excited about hosting this event for the second year and hope that you will take advantage of this opportunity to interact with your counterparts worldwide.

We are pleased to have received strong interest in NCSL's Summit from international legislators and staff. This year over 135 delegates representing 18 countries have already registered for the meeting. We believe this a positive response to sessions designed specifically for international attendees and to the pioneering of the roundtable discussions. We deem these discussions vital to opening conversation and establishing successful relationships between legislators worldwide.

This session will take place on Sunday from 1:00 pm – 3:00 pm. If you are attending a subcommittee the Executive Committee, I encourage you to join us for part of our session when your subcommittee is not meeting. We have arranged to have these sessions in rooms next to each other to encourage your participation.

We hope that you will be able to join us for this exchange. Please let us know if you would like to participate in this interactive session by returning the brief sign-up sheet attached to Nayara Mowry at nayara.mowry@ncsl.org or by fax at 202-737-1069 by Monday, June 18.

We look forward to hearing from you!

Hi Senator Pacheco –

Please find the agendas for Chicago Meeting of the Energy Supply Task Force and the Energy Summit attached. Please also find your hotel room confirmation # below.

On another note, I am leaving NCSL to attend law school in San Francisco. Orientation starts August 7th, so unfortunately I will not be at the Summit in Chicago. My last day at NCSL will be August 1st, so please contact me if you need any assistance before then.

Glen's cell phone # is 303-378-5891 and Jacquelyn's cell phone # is 802-825-1068 if you need any assistance while traveling to the meeting. It has been a pleasure working with you!
